

I-socket Presse
42980 Ivy Street (P. O. Box 1126)
Murrieta, CA 92564
Phone - 951-677-3954
www.isock-it.com

PRESS RELEASE

RELEASE PRIOR TO May 30, 2008

Contact: Torrie Kunkle

cell: 951-704-3948

torriek@isock-it.com

I-socket Presse releases new title at Book Expo America

Los Angeles Convention Center, May 29-June 1, 2008 - I-socket Presse is set to release their latest offering: "Carlos, A Tale of Survival" at this year's BEA. "Carlos" is the story of an American soldier, a survivor of the Bataan Death March, that endured abuse, torture, and starvation at the hands of the Japanese during WWII. This is no typical war book, however, but a telling portrayal of the true physical and psychological costs to those who fight for their country. Author J. L. Kunkle has used extensive research and interviews to weave a poignant retelling of the experience that puts the reader inside the thoughts of the combatants of Bataan and the families they left behind.

"Extremely vivid narrative. Gives readers a very, very good visual look at a time and place, as well as a war situation (the POW camps). Polished, and extremely powerful."

—Mike Foley, Writer's Review

I-socket Presse will be presenting the book along with a free gift at booth #4209.

###